

Abstract

The invention provides nucleic acid molecules and vector constructs comprising 5 scaffold/matrix attachment regions and methods of using such scaffold/matrix attachment regions for the industrial production of recombinant proteins and polypeptides.